

Ben Maybee, University of Leeds

Ben joined Leeds as a postdoc in 2021, following a PhD in high energy physics at the University of Edinburgh, UK. He is currently part of the LMCS project studying land-atmosphere interactions and their influence on mesoscale convective systems.