Rachel Koh, CCRS, Singapore

Rachel is a Research Scientist at the Centre for Climate Research Singapore (CCRS), Meteorological Services Singapore. Her work focuses on developing SINGV-EPS and DACE, the convective-scale ensemble numerical weather prediction system at CCRS. She works closely with stakeholders and collaborators to communicate uncertainties in the weather forecast.