

Andrew Brown, University of Melbourne

Andrew is a former PhD. student in the ARC Centre of Excellence for Climate Extremes based at the University of Melbourne. His thesis topic is related to wind hazards from severe thunderstorms in Australia and their sensitivity to global warming. He is now a postdoctoral research fellow in the ARC Centre of Excellence for the Weather of the 21st Century, with an interest in coastal wind resources.