Segolene Berthou, Met Office

Bio:

Ségolène has been leading activities of the Regional Environmental Prediction collaboration for 3 years, accelerating the pull through and integration of national-scale high resolution environmental prediction capabilities. Her background includes a PhD in air-sea interactions over the Mediterranean in the Laboratoire de Météorologie Dynamique (Paris) and five years in the Hadley Centre working on frontiers km-scale downscaling to better understand climate change impacts on heavy precipitation in Europe and Africa.